FIA/FOA International Derivatives Expo – IDX 2012

The Futures Industry Association and The Futures and Options Association are pleased to announce the fifth annual International Derivatives Expo at the Brewery in London on the 26th and 27th June 2012. IDX has grown to include representatives from major international bank and brokerage firms, exchanges and key regulatory agencies, as well as major suppliers to the industry.

To ensure that the conference and exhibition are easily accessible to all who wish to participate, we have again chosen the Brewery as the venue for next year's event. We plan to fully utilise the flexible space at the Brewery, and with the assistance of a steering committee have already begun the process of creating relevant and provocative programming. Information about IDX will be posted on our web sites as it becomes available.

The partnership fee of £5,000 + VAT (which remains at the same rate as previous years) includes the following:

- Pre-, during and post-conference branding: your logo will appear on all conference marketing material (brochures, flyers, and signage), promoting your involvement as a lead conference partner
- Logo and hotlink to appear prominently on the conference web page
- 10 complimentary conference registrations (up to a £5,400 value)

Please confirm your partnership commitment so we can include your organization on our early marketing materials. E-mail or fax Toni Vitale Chan [tvitale-chan@futuresindustry.org; +1.202.478.2175] or Bernadette Connolly [connollyb@foa.co.uk; +44 (0) 20.7090.1334].

We look forward to welcoming you to the Brewery for the International Derivatives Expo in June 2012 and thank you for your continued support of the FIA and FOA.

Yours Sincerely,
